Jamo Studio Sound Bars Are Decorative Alternatives for Interior Living Spaces

INDIANAPOLIS, IND (January 4, 2018) – Jamo, a high-value, high-performance audio brand with Danish design principles and one of the key Klipsch Group, Inc. brands, is pleased to announce two new sound bars designed to complement a wide range of interior living spaces. The Jamo Studio SB 36 and SB 40 sound bars combine the quality of well-made furniture and inviting contemporary design with natural sound in easy to use, plug-and-play solutions.

“The Jamo Studio sound bars are a decorative alternative to the standard black plastic sound bars on the market. They are uniquely tailored to reflect the sophisticated fine lines and textured finishes in traditional and modern homes,” said Andre LaRouche, director of product development, integrated systems for Klipsch Group, Inc.

The Jamo Studio sound bars are sheathed in a luxurious, textured fabric to create a streamlined visual profile, blending seamlessly with furniture found in any living environment. Both models are available in heathered black or light heathered gray finish wrapped in the same unique, woven gray grille cloth as the upcoming passive Jamo Studio speaker series that will be available in the U.S. this winter.

The Jamo Studio SB 36 is a 2.0 sound bar with an integrated subwoofer that comes equipped with Dolby Audio™ decoding and Bluetooth® wireless technology, as well as virtual surround and voice enhancing modes for optimal listening. It measures just 36” long and 2.6” tall, ideal for placement under a TV or wall mounting using the included template.

The Jamo Studio SB 40 is a 2.1, 40” sound bar and 6.5” wireless subwoofer fully loaded with HDMI 2.0 4K video pass through with HDCP 2.2 compatibility, Dolby Audio decoding, Bluetooth® wireless technology. The SB 40 sound bar also features virtual surround, voice enhance and night mode options.

The Jamo SB 36 (U.S. MSRP $249) and SB 40 (U.S. MSRP $399) are available now at select retailers and at Jamo.com. Visit Jamo.com for more details.
